

CLAUDIA HAYDEN

Voiceover Talent / Pro-Tools Engineer

Give her a microphone, keyboard, cables or cords and Claudia Hayden is happy. A born Techie, this New Yorker thrives on deciphering the ins and outs of anything "State of the Art."

With a Masters's Degree in Television Production and a minor in music, Hayden sees the world in stories, colors, tones, and, yes, sound bites. This all translates to colorful, audience friendly, productions, ranging from branding and imaging videos to original music compositions for clients such as NBC, CBS, HBO, Pfizer, American Express and more.

Through Voice-Over work, original scoring and compositions, she was able to build and develop her own recording studio and when Protools was introduced into the Marketplace, Hayden knew it would revolutionize sound editing.

For eight years, she has honed her proficiency in recording, mixing, editing and mastering in her state of the art non-linear studio. As the technology has evolved so have Claudia's skills as both a producer, editor and technician.

Hayden offers full service, turn-key productions, using her talent as a Voice Over Artist, video production skills and state of the art equipment. The result is an economical, efficient, value added production for each client.
